Angus Foundation: Champions for the Causes of Angus Youth, Education & Research

For more than 35 years, the Angus Foundation, the not-for-profit arm of the American Angus Association, has championed the causes of youth, education and research for the Angus breed and beef industry as a whole.

The Angus Foundation celebrated its many generous donors and accomplishments for 2016 at the annual Supporter Recognition Event, hosted Nov. 4 at the Marriott in Indianapolis, Ind., prior to the start of the 2016 National Angus Convention.

The evening event honored Angus Foundation supporters who have contributed $250 or more during the past fiscal year (Oct. 1, 2015 – Sept. 30, 2016).

“We have made great strides in advancing the Angus breed thanks to those who have served as champions for our organization,” says Milford Jenkins, Angus Foundation president. “We’re truly grateful for those champions’ continued support over the past 36 years.”

More than 300 attendees enjoyed a delicious meal featuring the Certified Angus Beef® (CAB®) brand, while the following emcees led the evening’s festivities: National Junior Angus Board (NJAB) Chairman Macy Perry, Prather, Calif.; NJAB Foundation Director Braden Henricks, Anadarko, Okla.; and Angus Foundation Board Chairman Leo McDonnell, Jr., Columbus, Mont.

“Looking back at the numerous champions the Angus Foundation has involved since its inception is a testament to our members and their will to give back and ability to look to the future," McDonnell says. "The champions of the Angus Foundation are evident throughout our Angus membership: the junior who excels in scholastics, the breeder who benefits from our progressive research programs and the member who becomes more active by taking part in one of the Association's many educational programs."

During the event, tribute was given to the late David McMahon, one of the first champions of the Angus Foundation.

"David McMahon, Sr., was truly a champion of the Angus breed, the Angus Foundation and especially Angus youth—a cause that inspired him to give of his time, talents and treasure," says Jenkins. "It's impossible to measure the philanthropic impact McMahon has had on the Angus Foundation's progress over the years."

Honoring Champions of the Angus Breed

The Angus Foundation auctioned the original artwork, "Concerned Mothers" by nationally renowned Western artist Brian Asher, Snyder, Texas. The final bid of $12,000 went to Whitestone Farm, Aldie, Va. The funds will benefit the Angus Foundation's education, youth and research initiatives.

The Angus Foundation was also proud to honor Lifetime Giving Supporters for their continued investment in the Angus breed. The individuals and families recognized have, over the lifetime of the Angus Foundation, contributed an accumulative $25,000 or more.

reached the level of Angus Visionary, having contributed an accumulative $500,000-$999,000: Charles W. and Judy Herbster, Herbster Angus Farms, Falls City, Neb.

Angus Builders, who contributed $100,000 or more during the fiscal year, were: Lawson and Debbie Hembree, Sugar Hill Farms, Inc., Fort Smith, Ark.; and Kelly and Martie Jo Schaff, Schaff Angus Valley, St. Anthony, N.D.

Honored as Angus Patrons for donations more than $50,000, were Howard and JoAnne Hillman, Sioux Falls, S.D., and Sysco Corporation, Houston, Texas.

Roy and Karen Jones, Jones & Gilliam Angus, L.P., Gainesville, Mo., were also recognized as Angus Patrons. In 2006, the Jones had anonymously donated $50,000 to the Missouri Junior Angus Association Scholarship Endowment Fund contingent on the Missouri Angus Association raising $50,000 by December 31, 2006—a goal that Missouri Angus breeders met. Today, this scholarship fund stands at more than $225,000. Earlier this year, the Jones' decided to publicly endorse the Angus Foundation, looking to inspire other Angus breeders to give to the Angus Foundation.

The lifetime Angus Benefactors, reaching $25,000, were: John Ames, Whispering Pines Cattle Co., LLC, Scottsdale, Ariz.; Terry Bailey and James Butler, High Roller Angus, Center, Texas; Ronald Hansen and Thomas Hansen, Oliver A. Hansen Family, Durant, Iowa; Milford and Peggy Jenkins, St. Joseph, Mo.; Dave and Phyllis Nichols, Nichols Farms, Ltd., Bridgewater, Iowa; Barry and Roxanne Pollard, Pollard Farms, LLC, Enid, Okla.; Allan and Cecelia Teixeira, John and Heather Teixeira, Teixeira Cattle Company, Pismo Beach, Calif.; Bob and Cathy Watkins, Beaver Ridge Farm, Middletown, Ind.; Dan and Staci Wilks and Farris and JoAnn Wilks, Wilks Ranch, Cisco, Texas; and Zoetis, Parsippany, N.J.

"We sincerely thank our generous supporters for being champions for the causes of Angus youth, education and research," says Jenkins. "Because of these champions, the Angus Foundation can make a lasting positive impact on the Angus and beef industries."

Additional highlights from the evening included a special presentation to the National Junior Angus Show (NJAS) Steer Carcass Contest winners and recognition of Chairman McDonnell for his service and leadership on the Angus Foundation Board of Directors.

Angus Foundation Heifer Package

The Angus Foundation Heifer Package sells Wednesday, January 11, 2017 at 5 p.m. Stadium Arena, National Western Stock Show, Denver, Colorado

The Angus Foundation Heifer Package is one of the Angus Foundation's major annual fundraisers. Each year, prominent Angus breeders donate an elite heifer as part of the Angus Foundation Heifer Package.

The package includes other perks, including 30 days of free insurance from American Livestock Insurance Co., Geneva, Illinois; free transportation to the buyer's ranch provided by Lathrop Livestock Transportation, Dundee, Illinois; and an advanced reproductive technology package from Trans Ova Genetics and its cloning division, ViaGen, Sioux Center, Iowa. All in all, a highly valuable investment.

Giving Back to the Angus Foundation

Donating the female for the Angus Foundation Heifer Package is not new for Basin Angus Ranch. Doug Stevenson, Basin Angus Ranch owner, proudly states that the Stevenson family donated a heifer 20 years ago.

"We thought it was time to do it again," he says. "We think we have something that would be of excellent value."

"We are thrilled that Basin Angus Ranch, Joliet, Montana, is once again donating the female for the Angus Foundation Heifer Package," says Milford Jenkins, Angus Foundation President. "We are so grateful for the Stevenson family's continued support of the Angus Foundation. The female will be an outstanding addition to any Angus breeder's herd."

"The Angus Foundation is important to the long-term success of the breed and the American Angus Association," Doug says. "We want to do everything we can to support the Angus Foundation's mission. We have previously been fairly aggressive supporters of the Angus Foundation: we've donated pregnancies, bought packages in various auctions, made cash gifts and supported in many different ways."

"The Angus Foundation must continue to support important research and the development of new tools and educational programs for membership and leadership programs for juniors and young breeders," Doug says.

History of Basin Angus Ranch

Stevenson Angus Ranch had been around for many years prior to Doug's parents, Wayne and Marion, establishing Basin Angus Ranch in 1973. Doug and his siblings were all involved from the start.

"We started as a small, yet progressive operation," says Doug. "We only had a couple hundred cows at that point. My parents were very lucky that a banker was willing to lend them money to get started."

The Stevenson family worked hard and the ranch grew. Doug took on management decisions while still in high school, including recordkeeping and breeding.

"In the spring of 1994, I took over full-time management of the entire place," he says. By that time, Doug's brother was working on a separate operation, while his sister and brother-in-law continued working at Basin Angus Ranch. In 2010, Doug and Sharon became the sole owners of the ranch.

Doing Things a Bit Differently

"We have 800 purebred cows that are marketed in several ways," says Doug. Two hundred of those cows are kept as part of a herd in Paris, Missouri, and marketed by private treaty from there.

"We've had cows there for 15 years," says Doug.

Basin Angus Ranch hosts an annual bull sale in March and sells a lot of bulls by contract to several long-time, large, progressive, commercial customers.

"We custom develop bulls for those guys," Doug adds. "Some of them have bought bulls from us for 15 to 20 years, and some even longer than that. They've been very closely tied to our program, and we have a long-term plan for those customers. We decide several years in advance what sort of genetics they want next in their herds, and each year, we provide those herds with the bulls they need."

While contract sales might be considered novel in the Angus industry, Doug says the program works well for them.

"Initially with those customers, we tried to have a plan and then sold those bulls at auction," Doug says. "The customers were trying to buy the bulls they wanted the way they wanted and it never quite worked out. So we work closely with those commercial breeders to give them exactly what they need. It's a data-driven selection process, and we get really top-notch cattle by being on a planned system."

LIFETIME GIVING

Lifetime giving donors are the core of the Angus Foundation's support base. These donors are our strength and inspire us to reach even higher levels of giving. The list below recognizes those supporters who have, over the lifetime of the Angus Foundation, contributed $25,000 or more. These contributions have enabled the Foundation — and its programs — to expand and provide even more support for the future. # Cookin' Up Some Fun By Sarah Hill

Angus youth bring their extraordinary showmanship skills to life at the annual CAB Cook-Off, held each year in conjunction with the National Junior Angus Show.

The Certified Angus Beef® (CAB) cook-off, held annually at the National Junior Angus Show (NJAS), has become a prestigious, well-known event throughout the beef industry. It's come a long way since it started in 1983.

Anne Patton Schubert, one of the cook-off's founders, shares with the Angus Foundation about the history of this storied event, which will celebrate its 34th year at the 2017 NJAS. Each year, the CAB cook-off awards presented to contest winners at the NJAS are sponsored through the American Angus Auxiliary Educational Awards Endowment Fund established by the Angus Auxiliary in the Angus Foundation in 2008.

Beginnings in Beef Promotion

It all started with a group of Angus Auxiliary members looking to promote beef. Schubert was Angus Auxiliary president in 1983, and the Auxiliary was searching for a beef education project. A group of members decided to create the Great Ground Round Cook-off, which debuted at the NJAS in Des Moines, Iowa.

"Ardyce O'Neill from Iowa was education chairman," Schubert says. "She wasn't sure how it would work out, but it would give junior members the chance to enhance their beef education skills. Kids come from all over the country to these junior shows, but not all kids are able to bring their animals. This was one of the first non-show educational events."

As a product of the Angus junior program herself, Schubert is a big proponent of supporting youth educational programs.

"The CAB cook-off is a wonderful project," she says. "Our junior program is a basic necessity. Without conferences and activities, we wouldn't have such great youth experiences. Supporting them through the Angus Foundation is an easy choice."

That first cook-off featured 11 teams, with 9 junior teams and three adult teams, for a total of 34 participants.

"We've always had an adult division," Schubert added.

After a few years, participants were allowed to use whatever cut of beef they wished and the divisions were sorted by age, not by beef product. Through the decades, categories have included fresh meat, heat and serve, deli, steak, roast and others.

Certified Angus Beef began their partnership with the cook-off in 1988.

Valuable Lessons Gained

Over the years, the cook-off has changed, but the basic premise has not. Today's participants are asked to do a skit in addition to cooking, and awards are given for the best recipe and showmanship.

"We want to encourage youngsters to be good public speakers so they can talk to everyday consumers," Schubert states. "They need to be able to answer normal people's questions if they're walking down the street."

In 2010, a chef's challenge was added for teams of 1-2 junior members age 18-21 and one adult.

"Traditionally, the chef's challenge had teams of up to four members," says Schubert. "We increased that to six."

During the challenge, teams are given a list of ingredients 24 hours prior to the contest. Teams are tasked with coming up with a meal only using those ingredients, and no skit is involved. The teams have creative discussion with the judges and an hour to prepare the meal.

"It has a little different focus," says Schubert. "The teams need to be able to talk about their project."

Schubert says that one of her favorite parts is that participants learn how to marinate and the right length of time to cook their product.

"Flexibility and a sense of humor are great things that folks learn in the cook-off," she says. "If you cooked it too much or too long, you need to learn how to correct it. That's all part of it and part of life—how you adapt to what you don't have total control over."

She adds that creativity and being able to make it all work are also valuable lessons learned from the cook-off. Learning that grace under pressure doesn't scare many participants off—Schubert says that many teams come back year after year.

"The participants have been great about positive encouragement," Schubert says. "You seldom see cook-off participants leave in tears. We set the standards very high and expect the best from everyone."

A Proud Tradition

Schubert says she is thrilled with the cook-off's success.

"It's great fun," she says. "It's rewarding and challenging to keep up with it every year. I'm amazed at how the kids today have time to participate in everything they do. The credit goes to hundreds of parents and hours

The dedication and commitment by numerous volunteers is evident with the success of the Cook-Off. Anne Patton Schubert has been a steady leader who has given tirelessly to the Cook-Off each year.

The excitement and hard work that teams exhibit in their skin as well as preparation are most evident during the judging of the CAB Cook-Off each year!

of practicing at home.”

Many cook-off participants have gone on to have an impact on the Angus industry, Schubert shares. Two of the participants from the first cook-off, Rick Blanchard of California and Sheryl Knop Leonard from Iowa, were two examples. Knop has been actively involved in the Angus Auxiliary. Melissa Pickerell Davis was a former participant and has served as a judge. Kara Wilson Lee from Indiana is a former cook-off participant. Danielle Foster Matter, who today serves as a CAB spokesperson, is a former contestant.

The cook-off is also a family affair for some. Paul St. Blanc won the first cook-off’s adult division. Today, his daughter, Anne Lampe, assists with the contest. Lampe’s sons and now grandchildren have participated. Ardyce O’Neill, one of the cook-off founders, has even cooked with her grandchildren as part of the event.

Schubert doesn’t claim to have just one favorite recipe of all the ones she’s seen made in the cook-off over the years.

“There was a beef tenderloin that was a favorite, and a chuck steak done on the grill from Illinois that was really fabulous,” she says.

CAB® Holiday Brisket with Red Cabbage and Creamy Mustard Sauce

Ingredients :

2 tsp. olive oil
1 boneless CAB® brisket, flat cut, about 3 lb.
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
4 cups ready-to-serve beef broth
2 Tbs. pickling spice

Creamy mustard sauce:

1 tsp. prepared horseradish
2 tsp. honey
1/4 cup Dijon-style mustard
1/2 cup low-fat dairy sour cream
1/2 tsp. water (if sauce is too thick)

Red cabbage:

2 tsp. pickling spice
2 cups slivered red onion
2 unpeeled Granny Smith apples, thinly sliced
6 cups thinly sliced, shredded red cabbage
3/4 cup ready-to-serve beef broth
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/3 cup packed brown sugar
3/4 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
cheesecloth
kitchen string

Directions :

1. Heat oven to 325° F. Heat oil in large nonstick skillet over medium heat until hot. Place brisket in skillet; brown evenly. Remove brisket from skillet and place in ovenproof stockpot or covered roaster. Season brisket with salt and pepper. Add pickling spice and broth. Cover tightly and bake 2½-3 hours or until brisket is fork tender.
2. While brisket cooks, prepare creamy mustard sauce by combining sauce ingredients in small bowl. Cover and refrigerate until ready to serve.
3. As brisket is cooking, prepare red cabbage.
  - Cut double thickness of cheesecloth into 5-inch square. (A paper coffee filter cut to similar size may be substituted for cheesecloth.) Place pickling spice in center of cheesecloth; gather edges and tie closed with string, forming small bag. Set aside.
  - In same skillet used to brown brisket (pour off drippings, if necessary), combine onion and apples. Cover and cook over medium heat 8-10 minutes or until onion is tender, stirring occasionally.
  - Add cabbage, broth, vinegar, brown sugar and pickling spice bag; stir to combine. Bring to a boil.
  - Reduce heat; cover and simmer 25-28 minutes, or until cabbage is tender and begins to caramelize, stirring occasionally. Remove spice bag. Season with salt and pepper; keep warm.
4. Remove brisket from pan; keep warm. Skim fat from cooking liquid; strain out and discard solids. Set aside cooking liquid.
5. Carve brisket diagonally across the grain into thin slices. Spoon some cooking liquid over brisket, if desired. Serve with cabbage mixture and sauce. Makes 6-8 servings.

This recipe was one of the recipes used during the 2009 CAB cook-off by a Kansas team in the 14-17 yr. old division. Team members were Jacinda Dickinson, Glasco; Mackenzie Flory, Baldwin City; Jennifer Hager, Hutchinson; Amanda Laas, Brookville; Peter Lundgren, Ottawa; and Tyler Ottensmeier, McLouth.

2017 NATIONAL JUNIOR ANGUS SHOW — THE FAMOUS AMANA LILY CLOCK

The famous Amana Lily Lake -- Lotus Clock. This clock is an original Amana design with hand-carved lotus lilies in the lower corners and cattails in the upper corners. The Lily Lake is covered with lotus lily blooms from late July throughout August. As for info about the Furniture Shop, we have been building furniture since 1855. During the earliest years, when Amana was still a communal society, the craftsmen built furniture exclusively for the members of the community. After Amana underwent what is known as "The Great Change" in 1932, Amana ended the communal way of life, split church and business affairs and furniture, woolens and other goods produced in the colonies became widely available for purchase by anyone. While the people living in Amana were always considered progressive and fairly quick to embrace new technologies, we continue to handcraft furniture here in Amana, on workbenches that are more than 160 years old. We do use modern tools and machinery; however, we do not have any assembly lines. Each piece is handcrafted by one craftsman who then signs each piece upon completion. As for the clocks, we import our mechanical movements from Germany and create the clock cabinets in our shop.

2017 NATIONAL JUNIOR ANGUS SHOW — ORIGINAL ARTWORK

Original piece of artwork by Sticks Gallery. Sticks has received national acclaim for their distinctive line of furniture, accessories and object art. Each piece is handcrafted within Sticks' award winning studio in Des Moines, Iowa. All pieces are finely crafted from birch, poplar and driftwood. The pieces are further designed with hand drawn imagery, etched contouring and vibrantly blended paint. Artist Molly Bannon is creating an Original Angus piece especially for the 2017 National Junior Angus Show.

President's Message Milford H. Jenkins

Holiday greetings from your friends at the Angus Foundation!

In this season of joyful thanksgiving for the blessings in our lives, it's only appropriate to start this column by saying thank you. Progress realized by your Angus Foundation in 2016 originated with you, our generous charitable supporters.

Angus breeders are compassionate, giving and supportive of those causes dear to their hearts, as well as their livelihoods. The Angus Foundation is blessed to be the beneficiary of our members' philanthropic support and that of our allied industry partners.

The blessing of family: priceless. A point driven home for me personally once again as just this morning, I learned of the passing of my 103-year-old Grandmother Laverta. Yes, our family knew her time to eternally be with our Lord was drawing near, simply from her increasing frailness physically from living such a long life. My, was she a blessing to our family and we will always treasure the memories of fun times, laughter and joy of Christmases past with her.

Our country: the United States of America, home of the free and land of the brave. We are truly blessed to live in a nation with the freedoms that we enjoy as citizens. These liberties haven't come without a cost, as thousands of servicemen and women paid the ultimate price of giving their lives. With immeasurable humbleness and gratitude, I say thank you to them, and to our military personnel today putting their lives in peril's way for our nation.

Because of their service, we can freely worship the God of our choice, vote for the political candidate of our choice, pursue our individual dreams and interests such as farming, ranching and raising Angus cattle. And yes, the freedom to freely support those charitable causes most meaningful to us. I hope you'll join me in exercising that right.

Indeed, we're blessed beyond measure.

From my family to yours, warmest wishes for a safe and enjoyable holiday season, and may God bless you and your Angus herd continued success and prosperity in 2017!
