osucasnr Science and hands-on experience are two values that the @okstateu College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources shares with FFA. Dawson Haworth, a biochemistry and molecular biology freshman, found his place in CASNR from his participation in the FFA Agriscience Fair.

Keep Your Passion, Change Your Colors

We are so glad to have met you during the National FFA Convention! We hope you enjoyed talking to students from Oklahoma State University's College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources (CASNR) and learning about life as an OSU Cowboy!

OSU and FFA share several core principles including service, personal growth and friendship. Like FFA, CASNR believes in the value of a hands-on education and the importance of a well-rounded student experience. With 16 majors and 52 study options, plus more than 60 student organizations, there's a place for you in CASNR!

"As I moved forward and started looking at schools, I wanted one that provided the family that FFA provided for me, and OSU had that. It has a really unique community and family atmosphere in addition to the academic provision."

Joenelle Futrell, Agriculture Education
Daviness County, Kentucky
Former National FFA Eastern Region Vice President

Feel free to contact us at 405-744-9464 or casnr@okstate.edu with your questions. We look forward to helping you become part of the CASNR family!
